X. STATEMENT OF EXPERIENCE

I have taught many undergraduate medical students at various levels in their clinical years from January 2003 until date. I am also involved in the training of house officers, junior and senior resident doctors in postgraduate fellowship training.

I was the Acting Head of the Department of Medicine, LASUCOM from January 2007 to May 2009.

I am one of the regularly invited lecturers at the National Postgraduate Medical College of Nigeria's Postgraduate update courses in internal medicine, for junior and senior Resident Doctors, delivering lectures on various Clinical Nephrology and dialysis topics.

I am also one of the regular resource persons at the annual conferences of the Nigerian Association of Nephrology, delivering lectures during the pre-conference update courses, and I have regularly been invited to deliver presentations on topical issues during the main conferences.

I was an external examiner to the University of Ilorin, from 2009 to 2012.

I have been an examiner at both parts I and II examination of the National Postgraduate Medical College of Physicians since 2008 till date.

I was the coordinator of the Part I Fellowship Clinical Examination of the Postgraduate Medical College in LASUTH (2009/2010).

I have also been involved at various times in the manpower training and development of renal care and dialysis personnel, at multiple levels for the Nigerian Navy for more than 20 years.

In Progress

1. Effect of regular counselling and follow-up phone calls on Medication adherence and blood pressure control in hypertensive Chronic Kidney Disease patients.

Investigators: - Awobusuyi JO, Umeizudike TI, Amisu MA. Dr. Onyido OE, Ajiyan OP, Oladimeji O.

Institution: - Lagos State University Teaching Hospital, Ikeja.

Research Focus: - Hypertension is a cardiovascular disorder that has become a major public health problem in both developed and developing countries. Poor medication compliance has been identified by many studies as the major cause of poor blood pressure control in most patients. Consequently, target-organ damage and premature death are still very common in hypertensive subjects despite being counselled and placed on therapeutically effective medications. Inadequate follow-up communication with patients may be the missing link between counselling and behavioural change it hopes to achieve. This study aims at evaluating the effect of follow-up phone calls and text messages (used as reminders for medication intake), on medication compliance and blood pressure control in hypertensive Chronic Kidney Disease patients. The findings of the study, will contribute to our understanding of the role that effective and constant communication by the health care team with the patient, plays in medication adherence and blood pressure control in hypertensive subjects.

2. Assessment of chronic fatigue in haemodialysis patients and its relationship with quality of life.

Investigators: - Dr. J.O. Awobusuyi, Dr. O Akinbande and Dr. O. Odusina.

Research Focus: - The study evaluates severity of fatigue using the Piper Fatigue Scale, in patients undergoing dialysis. A regression analysis between fatigue, adequacy of dialysis, anaemia and quality of life would be done to assess the contribution of fatigue to the generally reported reduction in quality of life that has been observed by many investigators. The findings of the study would highlight the importance of this often-neglected common clinical symptom in the care of chronic kidney disease patients on haemodialysis.

3. Evaluation of clinical profile of patients with nephrolithiasis in the Nephrology clinic of Lagos State University College of Medicine.

Investigators: - Awobusuyi JO, Umezudike TI, Amisu MA. Dr. Onyido OE, Ajiyan OP, Oladimeji O.

Institution: - Lagos State University Teaching Hospital, Ikeja.

Research Focus: - This is a cross sectional study that aims to evaluate the clinical profile, laboratory characteristics and the responses to various treatment modalities offered to patients with renal calculi in our nephrology unit. The findings will guide us in selecting the most effective modalities of treatment, in our environment, thus enhancing patients' management at the clinic.

4. National Renal Registry: - Establishment and analysis of Renal Registry Data in Nigeria.

Prof. Ijoma CK	Chairman
Dr. Awobusuyi JO	Regional coordinator South West (Adult)
Dr. Asinobi	Regional coordinator South-West (Paediatrics)
Dr. Akuse	Regional coordinator North West (Paediatrics)
Dr. Aliyu Abdu	Regional coordinator North West (Adult)
Dr. Udemeh Ekrikpo	Regional coordinator South East (Paediatrics)
Dr. Habibu Galadanchi	Regional coordinator North East (Adult)

Collection of data by the Nigerian Renal Registry committee was commenced in April 2014. The Registry hopes to capture data from all major centres in the country where renal care is provided. The committee would collate, archive, analyze and publish findings related to kidney disease, its clinical profile and management in Nigeria.

Publication of the registry data would provide nationally acceptable data on various aspects of clinical nephrology and dialysis. The registry committee is also pursuing collaboration with renal registries in other countries (Both developed and emerging).
